A warm welcome to SheLaughed! I think a lot of us understand your desire for more blessings --and how the thought of the youngest being the last one brings tears sometimes!

My "baby" is now ten years old and I still get baby fever from time to time! (She's the only child we have left, the others are adults in their 20's and 30's!)

God's grace is here for us in each season of our life though. We're expecting another grandbaby in a few weeks and we're so excited!

Praying the Lord blesses your family!
